

World Day of Prayer
1st March 2019
Service prepared by the Women of Slovenia
Come - Everything is Ready!

Holy Innocents' Catholic Church was the host for the 2019 Ecumenical Service World Day of Prayer, with Marisa Wilson the organiser.

The Mayor of Bromley Councillor Kim Botting attended, along with her husband and took part in the service as a guest reader.

The theme of the service was Come- Everything is ready.

The Banquet was ready, but the invited guests one by one gave excuses as to why they did not want to attend. A spirit-filled service with many from different congregations attending. This year, the service was been prepared by the women of Slovenia. It was entitled "A Wave of Prayer Encircling The World".

Slovenia lies at the heart of Europe. It is a land of immense natural beauty, with a great variety of scenery and a varied climate. A fairly small country, with a population of about two million and an area similar to that of Wales. Modern Slovenia became independent in 1991.

Following the service refreshments were served in St Joseph's Hall.
